Easy eCommerce for Sage Users

Grow your sales, reduce your costs with Intellisell

Out of the box eCommerce for Sage users.

Can you calculate just how much business you are losing by not trading online? It is almost impossible to tell, but the fact is that online sales are continuing to increase at pace. More and more companies are looking to the web to support their sales, opening up their business to the possibility of sales 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Intellisell is a proven solution for increasing your sales and driving up the average order value whilst helping you to reduce your overheads by eliminating the need for telesales or order processing staff.

There is no need for lengthy customisation or development work; you can have a solution up and running within days, leaving you to get on with servicing your client base.

But why choose Intellisell when so many companies offer an ecommerce solution? Look a little deeper behind the plethora of companies out there and you'll find everything from costly bespoke solutions that take an age to scope and build to simple shopping cart functionality that offers the end user little support and lots of re-keying within your sales order processing department. Intellisell is different because:

- It has ground-up, full integration with Sage business solutions
- You don't pay for a costly bespoke solution that takes time to build
- It has out of the box functionality, with the ability to edit content on the fly
- It is fully scalable as your product catalogue grows
- It is a hosted solution that takes the hassle away from you
- There is design & SEO support available

'There is no doubt that by enabling Squires Group to promote and cross-sell, the website is driving customers towards a broader range of products. The average size of the order is definitely higher online than via traditional channels.'

Tom Dutton, Operations Director, Squires Group.

'We have been particularly impressed with the seamless integration with our Sage 1000 system and the technical ability of the Intellisell team.'

Michael Papé, Director, Ravensden plc.
